KPM CPAs & ADVISORS WINS NATIONAL COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD

Springfield, MO – KPM CPAs & Advisors (KPM) is excited to announce the firm’s first Association for Accounting Marketing (AAM) award! KPM was recently honored with a ‘We AAM to Serve’ award, which recognizes the corporate social responsibility philosophy of accounting firms across the county. The announcement was made at the AAM-MAA awards dinner at the association’s recent 2018 AAM Summit in Portland, Oregon.

“KPM is honored to be among this year’s accounting firm honorees. We are thrilled to see our varied community initiatives being recognized. Our firm has always been incredibly civic-minded and philanthropic throughout its more than 50-year history, and we look forward to continuing to serve our amazing non-profit clients and the community we love,” said KPM Marketing Director Crystal Mapp.

KPM’s robust community program, KPM CARES (Community Action Requires Engaged Societies) was launched in 2015 by Mapp. Through KPM CARES, the firm supports the community through a variety of methods: financially through donations/sponsorships, personally through volunteerism and involvement in local non-profit organizations, and socially by using our networks to promote these organizations and help our employees, clients, and friends of the firm learn more about the amazing variety of resources we have here in our local community.

With more than 700 members, AAM promotes excellence and elevates marketing, business development, and other practice growth professions across the accounting industry through education, networking, and thought leadership. We AAM to Serve is a contest that helps firms share their community involvement stories and recognizes those who make an impact; allowing other firms to gather great ideas on how to serve their own communities in the process.
